

Daughter Of The Sea

Warbringers: Jaina

Written by Robert Brooks

Arranged by Ron Blänkner

(♩ = 115)

pp Be-ware be-ware the 9 daugh-ter of the sea. Beware I heard him cry. His voice car-ried u-

17 mp pon the o-cean breeze as he sank beneath the tide. Those blood- soaked

24 shores of Ka-lim do - or where sail - fought and died. The ad- miral

32 fell at The ra mo - orc be - cause she left his side.

40 f Why this? Why this? Oh, daugh- ter of the sea? Why this? Did you for-46 get your sea- side days? Al - ways the pri- de of our na- tions eyes.

52 How could she go a- stray? When she did flee a-

61 cross the o- cean deep the ad- miral fol- lowed west. What else but sail to

69 save a daugh- ers life and pray she still drew breath? But there he found u-

77 mf pon those dis- tant shores e- nemies 'pon the rise! But when he

84 f mf faced those sa- a- a- vage foes his daugh- ter stood a-side And

Music engraving by LilyPond 2.18.2—www.lilypond.org